Lutherville company serves up new film SAGE Dining Services® takes the bite out of student lunches

Lutherville, MD (April 22, 2013)- Great food is memorable. Whether it's a wedding, the birth of a child, a first day of school or a graduation, life's biggest moments, the ones we capture on video, revolve around food.

For SAGE Dining Services®, food is our life, and now it's the focus of a short film that highlights who and what SAGE is all about. From "Scratch and Batch Cooking" to "Education" and "Sustainability," SAGE understands what goes into great food. These principles are the key components for our company and this film.

"For us, good is not good enough," says SAGE Dining Services® President, Paco Rodriguez. "SAGE strives to be great and to bring its students great tasting and great looking food." With nearly 200 schools across the country, SAGE is stepping up efforts to educate children on the importance of eating well and enjoying what they eat.

"We believe in serving real food, cooked from scratch, using fresh ingredients," says Tina Rodriguez, CFO and Co-Founder of SAGE Dining Services®. "This film highlights the best that Sage has to offer. Our priority is to give students the opportunity to experience healthy food that is creative and flavorful."

With the help of medical personnel, school administrators, and SAGE's own Registered Dietitians, SAGE has developed its own nutrition program, The Spice of Life®. This includes the SAGE Spotlight Program®, which teaches children that there is a place on your plate for everything when you practice variety, balance and moderation.
